NEWS OF KANSAS.

Rev. J. D. Botkin Would Like Jeff Hudson's Place.

The Site for K. U.'s New Medical School Selected.

OTHER STATE NEWS.

The Baker Boys Can't Play Football This Year.

NEODESHA, Sept. 18.—The Populist party in this locality is in a high state of agitation and confusion over the withdrawal of Hudson as candidate for congress. Amid all the din and dust, raised by the kickers, ex-Rev. J. D. Botkin has removed from Wellington to Neodesha, presumably for the purpose of securing the nomination for Hudson's place on the Pop ticket.

That's the way it looks to political experts here, and their surmises are grounded upon a letter to the Alliance Herald (Pop), published at Frederonia, from a Winfield admirer of Botkin, strongly recommending him for the place.

K. U.'s NEW MEDICAL SCHOOL.
The Clinical Hospital Will Be One of the Largest in the Country.

The new medical school which is to be established as a branch of the state university on an extensive and valuable site near Rosedale donated by Dr. S. B. Bell, promises to be a complete realization at an early date. Chancellor Snow and members of the board of regents visited Rosedale, looked over the grounds, and were immensely pleased with the surroundings. The location is elevated, picturesque and healthful. The generous gift was then and there formally accepted.

A portion of the twenty acres will be laid off as an ornamental ground. Seven acres will form the site for the clinical hospital, which will be an immense institution that will compare in size and general appearance with the largest institution of the kind in the world. Then there will be the college building proper where the medical studies of the state university will complete their course; a gymnasium, a training school for nurses and a home for convalescents.

The college proper will occupy 200 feet on the boulevards in Rosedale and until this is built, to enable the state university an opportunity to give its students a modern education. The first two years at Lawrence, the full and complete clinical course, Dr. Bell donated for that purpose the big brick building, not far from the proposed site, known as Bell's hall.

The institution will be wholly on the Kansas side of the line, will be a department of the state university and in every sense will be distinctly a Kansas institution.

SHOT A WORTHLESS FELLOW.

A Leroy Storekeeper Felt Lead Into an Insulting Man.

LEROY, Sept. 18.—William Inman, a worthless fellow, followed two young ladies named Long into the dry goods store of W. E. Willis, where they went to purchase a dress. Stepping up to the counter where the ladies were examining goods, Inman proposed to pay one-third on a dress if they would allow him to choose the material.

Willis told him to keep still and after some harsh words ordered him out of the store. He went out, but told Willis he would not get off the sidewalk, and dared him out. The latter went back into the store, got a gun, and as he went out commenced shooting. Inman was struck twice, one ball entering near the heart and another went through the muscles of the arm. The first wound is probably fatal.

Willis was placed under arrest and the general impression is that the shooting was justifiable.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

The Diocese of Kansas is in Session at Salina.

SALINA, Sept. 18.—The thirty-fifth annual convention of the diocese of Kansas and the second annual missionary conference of the Episcopal church opened in this city yesterday with a good attendance.

The Rev. E. S. Thomas of Topeka, bishop of Kansas, is supervising the convention and giving it his personal attention. Miss Sybil Carter, deaconess of Minnesota, presides over the missionary conference.

NO FOOT BALL AT BAKER.

The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees Decides That Way.

BALDWIN, Sept. 18.—The executive committee of the board of trustees of Baker university, at a meeting held recently, decided that the resolution passed by the full board last spring was mandatory and not advisory. This means that the boys at the school will not be allowed to play foot ball with other college teams during the term time.

SIX HORSES BURNED.

SALINA, Sept. 18.—News has just been brought to town that during the rain storm Sunday a barn belonging to John Kohler, who lives ten miles north west of town, was struck by lightning and entirely demolished. Six horses unable to escape from the burning building and probably prostrated with the shock, were burned to death. A valuable lot of farm implements, wagons, etc., were destroyed. Also ten tons of stored hay and a quantity of wheat were destroyed.

First Rain Since July 3.

GLASCO, Sept. 18.—Since July 3 this section of the Solomon valley has had the worst drought ever known to it. Scarcely a drop of rain has fallen since the date above given. Sunday a glorious rain fell, a soaking rain of nearly three inches. It will put the ground into fine condition for plowing and seeding, help alfalfa and pasture fields.

Got a Verdict for $900 Damages.

ABILENE, Sept. 18.—The case of T. F. Fry vs. Santa Fe for $10,000 damages for injuries received a year ago was decided by the jury in the district court here in favor of Mr. Fry, awarding him damages in the sum of $900.

Section Boss Killed at Wamego.

WAMEGO, Sept. 18.—After the storm here Sunday night Jacob Lehr, a section boss, went west of town with one man to see if the track was all right. While removing trash from a culvert a special train surprised them. Lehr was struck and his leg and arm broken, his head cut and his body bruised. He lived only a few hours.

Work on Atchison's Electric Line.

ATCHISON, Sept. 18.—Work on the electric street railway has been resumed. Superintendent J. A. Bendure returned from Chicago this morning, accompanied by Cliff Wise, who has the contract to lay the track. Five experts, who will act as foremen of the work, arrived yesterday. Within six or seven weeks the track will be complete.

SETTLED AGAIN.

The Orphans Home Disagreement Lost in a New Election of Officers.

At the meeting of the board of trustees of the orphan home yesterday afternoon the following new officers were elected to take the places of those recently resigned: Mrs. J. E. Howe, president; Mrs. George Henley, first vice president; Mrs. H. A. Miliken, second vice president; Mrs. J. Lee Knight, secretary; Mrs. Howell Jones, treasurer; Mrs. J. Lee Knight, Mrs. Mary Carney and Mrs. J. D. Ellis, trustees to fill vacancies. A new matron has not yet been secured but Mrs. Rosa Strickley is filling the place temporarily.

There are about eighty members of the association besides the advisory board of nine gentlemen. Twenty-two children are at present being cared for at the home.

One of the members of the association, and an officer, in speaking of the recent resignations, said: "I know of three of them that resigned for the good reason that they are going out of the city. The rest must have resigned because they were mad about something. Mrs. Donith, late president, was not at the meeting yesterday." The home disagreement has again been settled.

SANTA FE CLERKS' SPREE.

Girls in Men's Clothes and Their Escorts All Drunk.

Four people in a carriage created something of a sensation in Potwin last night by their appearance, the noise they made and an accident.

About 10:30 p. m. a carriage was seen to drive into John D. Knox's orchard and a few minutes later it came out again on the driveway in front of the residence of Thomas Eby. The driver was hilarious, and while he was making lots of noise he drove the carriage into the driveway down in a ditch, smashing one wheel and toppling his load out on the ground.

The occupants who were dumped out made so much noise that they attracted the attention of all the neighborhood and a son of Mr. Eby went out to see what the trouble was.

Four young men, or rather two young men and two young women dressed in men's attire, all pretty well loaded with intoxicants did not seem in the least disturbed by his appearance and he stood by while the young women were mounted on the horses and directed to take them to Rain's livery barn, while the young men trudged on behind.

This morning Silas Rain went out to the scene of the accident and examined his wrecked carriage. He would not tell who the people were, but Silas Rain told Mr. Eby that the young man who hired the rig is prominent in the city and is an employee in the Santa Fe offices.

PROF. ELY VINDICATED.

Investigating Committee Can't Think of Recommending His Dismissal.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 18.—The report of the Ely investigating committee was submitted to the full board of university regents at 2 o'clock this afternoon signed by the full committee. It finds Dr. Ely had no connection with the printers' strike, did not advise or abet the strikers or walking delegates, or make demand on proprietors that their office should be made a union one.

It further finds there is no foundation for the charge that Dr. Ely believes in strikes or boycotts or any other charges that were made by Superintendent Wells, that the charge, "a sort of moral justification for attacks upon life and property is supported by the teaching or practice of the university of Wisconsin" is absolutely false.

The members of the committee say they are surprised to find that during the last eighteen months nearly 200 books and articles have been published by professors and students on various subjects.

The report states that without doubt some things were written not only on social economics, but other subjects with which many good people could not agree, but the committee is mindful of the fact that many universally accepted doctrines of today were but a short time ago denounced as visionary, impracticable and pernicious.

The committee states that it cannot for a moment think of recommending the dismissal of a teacher even if some of his opinions should in some quarters be regarded as visionary. Such a course would be equivalent to saying no professor should teach anything which is not accepted by everybody as true.

They say they would feel themselves unworthy of the positions they hold if they did not believe in progress in all departments of knowledge. They believe the great university of Wisconsin should ever encourage that continual and fearless sifting and winnowing way by which alone truth can be found.

In closing the report the committee says: "We regret that our appointment is such that an investigation should have been considered necessary, but will now state that we entered on it with the sole desire to ascertain the truth in regard to the charges preferred. We are pleased to say that the result is a complete vindication of Dr. Ely and the teachings and practice of our university."

Depot at Ponca.

An order was filed in the United States circuit court by Judge Caldwell, ordering the receivers of the Santa Fe railroad to build a depot at Ponca City.

Miss Yates will appear at Capitol square tonight instead of the Lutheran church.

Mrs. Elizabeth U. Yates will speak on "Woman Suffrage" at the state house steps at 8 o'clock this evening.

The State Journal's Want and Miscellaneous columns reach each working day in the week more than twice as many Topeka people as can be reached through any other paper. This is a fact.

WHO WERE THEY?

A Drunken Jamboree Reported in the Masonic Building.

People living in the vicinity of the Masonic building on Jackson street were aroused last night by a series of cries of "murder," "help," and "Oh, my God, you're killing me." The cries continued at various intervals from 1 o'clock until after 3, and finally three ladies living across the street dressed and went into the street to investigate the cause of the trouble.

They say the cries were plaintive and piercing at times, and at other times sounded smothered as though an effort were made to suppress the outcries. The voice was that of a woman. The suspicious circumstances which they saw give the neighborhood gossips plenty to talk about today.

One of the women who went into the street said to a JOURNAL reporter today: "We had not been on the sidewalk long before a hack drove up to the front entrance of the building. The driver cried out, 'Hurry up, there!' and somebody upstairs said, 'All right, we'll be down in a minute.' Then two men, carrying a form, which we could not see distinctly, but suppose was a woman came down. I rushed across the street to try to get the number of the hack, but the driver saw me coming and drove up the alley before I could get to see anything. Then I went back to the sidewalk where the other ladies were. We decided that the hack would be back before long, so we waited. I suppose we waited nearly three-quarters of an hour, but it came, or at least a hack we supposed was the same one.

"We all crossed the street again and I saw by the lamps that it was No. 20. I asked: "Where is that woman you hauled away a while ago?" "What woman?" "The one they carried out of this building a while ago. Aren't you the same hackman?"

"No, and I don't know anything about it. I simply got a telephone message that a woman was badly hurt down here, so I came here after her."

"I asked the hackman what his name was, but he wouldn't tell. Then a big fat colored policeman came up and we told him all we knew about the case. The hackman started to drive off but the officer stopped him. The policeman says the driver's name was Lucas. The officer and Lucas then held a whispered conversation and the officer then told us he did not investigate the case and walked off."

The policeman in question is learned to be Officer Hicks. The other women were present when this interview was given and they gave their assent frequently to its reliability. They were so alarmed and excited by the occurrence that at the time it did not occur to them to arouse their husbands and have them enter the building.

The Masonic building is taken up largely with the Masons rooms, the Elks, the Modocs, Wetherell's dancing academy, a school of physical culture and the Athletic club. There are three or four rooms rented as gentlemen's sleeping apartments.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. J. H. Wetherell heard any noises after the Masons went home at about 1 o'clock. The noises reported by the neighbors, however, were kept up as late as 4 o'clock this morning.

The possible sequel to this statement is given by a well known Topeka physician this morning. He says that two business men and two women got drunk in a "public building" last night, declining to say where. He adds that one of the women was badly hurt, and among her other injuries had her foot "nearly cut off," or at least badly injured.

There is a mystery about the whole affair that time may develop. The hackman has nothing to say and the policeman is mum. The women across the street say such occurrences are a disgrace to a respectable neighborhood and they want the case forgotten out. The people in the Masonic building are equally as anxious to find out the truth of the matter.

EMILY RIGL HERE.

The Famous Actress and Her Company at the Grand Tonight.

Miss Emily Rigl and her company, who will produce "Mr. Barnes of New York," at the Grand this and tomorrow evenings, arrived in Topeka from Kansas City at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Miss Rigl and her manager, James E. Moore, and his wife are at the Throop. The rest of the company are at the Chesterfield. Miss Rigl is a tall brunette with flashing dark eyes and black hair. On the streets even, she seems ready to "go on" as the Corsican said.

She has only been in Topeka once before and that was with Harry Lacy in the "Planter's Wife." She was the leading woman. Her leading support is James K. Hackett, who plays the part of "Mr. Barnes." Any quantity of special scenery is used in the piece, the principal scenic effect being the railway trip from Paris to Nice in four distinct scenes. There is a good advance sale.

OWENS' PLURALITY 269.

The Figures Are Practically Final—Will Be No Contest.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 18.—The official count of Fayette county was completed at noon today, giving Breckinridge 265 plurality over Owens. There is no contest or protest of any kind. The Bourbon county official count will be made at 2 o'clock.

The Leader this afternoon publishes a table of seven counties, official, and Bourbon, unofficial, but conceded by both sides, giving the vote as follows: Owens, 8,702; Breckinridge, 7,908; Settle, 3,991; Owens' plurality, 269. These figures are practically final.

LOCAL MENTION.

The funeral of J. P. McGuire, who died at his home at Fourth and Lake streets yesterday morning of paralysis, at the age of sixty-two, will be buried Thursday morning at nine o'clock from the church of the Assumption.

Lon Miller and Edward Binley, two boys who escaped from the reform school a few weeks ago, were arrested at Leavenworth Saturday. When notified of their arrest, Superintendent Hitchcock wired the constable having them in charge, to let the boys go as he did not want them after they had been exposed to smallpox. The boys are again free.

Miss Yates will appear at Capitol square tonight instead of the Lutheran church.

LETTER CARRIERS MEET.

The Order Has Nearly 6,000 Members in Good Standing.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 18.—The fifth annual convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers began at Army and Navy hall today with about 275 delegates present, representing all parts of the country. Mayor Blee delivered a speech of welcome, which was responded to by President Frank E. Smith of the association.

National Secretary John F. Vicbaris' annual report showed a remarkable growth in the order.

The association was organized in Boston four years ago, with fifty-three branches. Today the branches number 506, with nearly six thousand members in good standing. Treasurer McDonald's report showed the total receipts during the year to be $6,387, expenditures $5,400.

During the afternoon the delegates were taken in the trolley coaches to points of interest about the city.

MISS YATES IN TOWN.

A Celebrated Suffrage Speaker to Make a Speech.

Miss Elizabeth U. Yates of Maine arrived at noon today and will make a suffrage speech this evening from the north steps of the state house.

She is making suffrage speeches under the direction of the National Suffrage association.

She said to a JOURNAL reporter who asked her what she thought of the probability of the amendment carrying in Kansas: "I was in Kansas in June and July and spoke in southern counties. I returned to the state September 1, and I was surprised and gratified at the advance of public sentiment in favor of the amendment. The people are with us and the politicians are finding out that it will be to their interest to support the measure. The impression that it is a party measure is being allayed and it is going in on its own merits irrespective of party."

"The Republicans and Populists are very largely with us and the Prohibitionists will support the measure almost unanimously and there are thousands of Democrats who are personally in favor of the amendment."

"The political kaleidoscope is changing in our favor and if the vote were taken today I feel sure that the amendment would carry by 25,000. With the continual agitation of the question and a thorough campaigning from now until election the majority should be much better."

"How do you account for the defeat of the suffrage amendment in the New York constitutional convention?" questioned the reporter.

"I am an eastern woman," replied Miss Yates, "and I recognize that the soil of the west is the place to plant reforms. The conservatism of the east will only yield after this measure has obtained extensively elsewhere. The political machine of the constitutional convention of New York did not dare to submit it to the votes of the people because they knew it would carry."

In speaking of her political sentiments Miss Yates said: "I am of Republican extraction, but I suppose that I would be called a scratcher. I would vote for men rather than for party."

"Will Miss Anthony return to the state?" questioned the reporter.

"I can not say, but if Miss Anthony comes to the state she will come by solicitation of the Populist committee and will be paid by them. The amendment campaign committee will have nothing to do with it. The National Suffrage association is strictly non partisan."

PINKERTON MEN BATTLE.

Occupants of a Chicago Gambling House Resist Arrest and a Fight Follows.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—A pitched battle between Pinkerton men and the attaches of Harry Varnell's gambling house at Madison and Clark streets was fought this afternoon during a raid on the place. Varnell's is one of the largest gambling houses in the city, and was filled when half a score of detectives, headed by Mat Pinkerton, entered the place.

The occupants of the house armed themselves with chairs and other weapons and charged the intruders. Drawing their clubs the officers resisted the attack for fifteen minutes and the air was full of chairs, clubs and profanity. Many of the combatants were knocked down and badly pounded but none were dangerously hurt.

An immense crowd of people gathered, attracted by the fight. The detectives finally conquered making many arrests, and the Varnell people retaliated by causing the arrest of Mat Pinkerton. Varnell is ex-warden of the county poor house, and has served a term in the penitentiary for "boodling."

Odd Fellows in Secret Session.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 18.—The sovereign grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows met in secret session at Lookout Inn today, but the proceedings have not yet been made public. The feature of the day will be the great parade.

J. E. Hathaway, expert accountant. Books examined and written up. Special attention given to bank work. First-class references. Address 509 Kansas avenue.

There will be a social held by the Young Ladies' society of the German Catholic church, on Tuesday evening, at 420 Kansas avenue. Everybody cordially invited.

Mrs. Elizabeth U. Yates will speak on "Woman Suffrage" at the state house steps at 8 o'clock this evening.

GRAVES RENTED.

A Growsome Custom in the Central American States.

"We in this country do all that is possible to rob grim death of its terrors," says L. L. Van Cleave, of Syracuse, "and I trust that when I shuffle off this mortal coil it will be in my own land instead of a foreign one. While I was in Central America, not long ago, I saw a burial which to me was most repugnant. Near most of the towns is what is called the Campo Santo, an inclosed consecrated cemetery, in which the dead are buried upon the payment of a small fee, which is devoted to keeping the grounds in order. In some towns the practice of burying in the churches has always prevailed, and is perpetuated through the influence of priests, who derive a considerable fee from each burial. The consequences is that the ground within and around the churches has been literally honey-combed with the dead. The burials are made, according to the amount paid to the church, for periods, say from six to twenty-five years, at the end of which time the bones, with the earth around them, are dug up and sold to the manufacturers of nitre. Coffins are seldom used. The corpses are placed at the bottom of the grave, the earth rudely thrown in and beaten down with heavy rammers, with a degree of indifference that is really shocking. I did not allow myself to witness a second burial."

The Wrong Man.

A short time ago a young lady was troubled with a boil on her knee which grew so bad that she thought it necessary to call in a physician. She had formed a dislike for the family physician, so her father suggested several others, and finally said he would call in the physician with the homoeopathic case who passed the house every day. They kept a sharp lookout for him, and when he came along he was called in. The young lady modestly showed him the disabled member. The little man looked at it and said: "Why, that's pretty bad." "Well," she said, "what must I do?" "If I were you," he answered, "I would send for a physician. I am a piano tuner."

Earnings of the House of Lords.

Whatever may be the shortcomings of the house of lords as a political institution, it pays its way. In the last financial year it earned over $23,000 in fees on private bills and judicial proceedings. There is also an item of $126 13 shillings, being fees paid on the introduction of peers. Against this stands a charge of $32 10 shillings, fees due to garter-king-of-arms. It is interesting to note that before the sum was paid over, income tax amounting to 18 shillings 1 penny was rigorously subtracted.

Bounty for Scapels.

During the French-Indian war of 1754, the French offered a bounty for British scalps. In the same year a bounty of $100 each was offered by the authorities of the several colonies. In 1755 Massachusetts granted a bounty of $40 for every scalp of a male Indian over 13 years of age and $20 for the scalps of women and children. In 1764 John Penn, governor of Pennsylvania, offered a bounty of $150 for every "Indian buck" killed and scalped.

California.
